EXTENDED BIOGRAPHY

For Alberto Tatti, a great bar is about more than what is in the glass. It is about being recognized, feeling welcome and leaving with more acquaintances than you arrived with.

Alberto grew up on the shores of Lake Como, Italy, and has spent more than three decades in hospitality in New York City, Palm Beach, the Hamptons and Miami. That international experience shaped his approach to hosting: atmosphere, attentiveness and human connection matter as much as food and drink.

At Bar Tatti on Store Regnegade, he has created an intimate Italian café bar in Copenhagen inspired by the informal bar culture of Milan. Guests can stop by for an espresso, a glass of Italian wine or a cocktail, then linger as conversation takes over.

His approach comes into focus on Wednesday Pasta Night. Every Wednesday, guests can order a drink and enjoy pasta on the house, without reservations or registration. It is a simple reason to gather, share a table and meet new people.

Alberto has become a familiar face on Store Regnegade. Regulars call him the "Mayor of Store Regnegade", an affectionate reflection of the warmth and sense of community he brings to the bar.
